

ALERT REGARDING CLIMATE ISSUE DOCUMENTS! THEY ARE BEING TAKEN OFF GOVERNMENTAL WEBSITES!

.....keeping watch on the industry

Issue: # 118
Date: JANUARY 21, 2017

ALERT TO THOSE OF YOU INTERESTED IN KNOWING MORE ABOUT THE IMPACTS OF CLIMATE CHANGE IN OUR STATE, NATION AND GLOBALLY AND PARTICULARLY ON HEALTH ISSUES!

This site references what is happening
in Wisconsin with climate changes

<https://statesummaries.ncics.org/wi>

Please save it as the government websites regarding climate change both in Wisconsin and in Washington, D. C. are being removed.

IN ADDITION, PLEASE SAVE THE SITE NOTED BELOW. IT IS FROM THE EPA AND SHOWS THE HEALTH IMPACTS OF CLIMATE CHANGE:

EPA received requests from community leaders for products that would help them inform and educate their community about the potential impacts of climate change on their health. In response to this need, EPA recently posted communication materials that summarize key points from the U.S. Global Change Research Program's recent report, The Impacts of Climate Change on Human Health in the United States: A Scientific Assessment.

The websites are disappearing according to recent news articles.

“President Trump is committed to eliminating harmful and unnecessary policies such as the Climate Action Plan and the Waters of the U.S. rule,” the site says. A search of the website found no mention of "global warming," and the only mentions of "climate change" were archived pages that, after clicking on the links, led to scrubbed pages.

Scientists and professors around the country had been rushing to download and rehost as much government science as was possible before the transition, based on a fear that Trump's administration would neglect or outright delete government information, databases, and web applications about science. Last week, the Radio Motherboard podcast recorded an episode about these efforts, which you can listen to. PLEASE use link to read more and hear podcast about disappearing science.
