IS IT CLIMATE CHANGE OR CLIMATE DENIAL?

While there are evidences around us every day that climate changes are appearing globally as reported in many newsletters and media reports, scientific works, and actual occurrences, there are still leaders proclaiming that climate change is not caused by greenhouse gasses or the influences of the population. The following article contributed by a Texas friend demonstrates that "dark money" may be the reason for the continuing reports and that the "taking down" of information from governmental websites is being pushed by the forces of dark money rather than scientific research and many years of data accumulated and analyzed by those who study the impacts.

A discussion article for your groups.....
This issue alone is one to be investigated and action taken before more damage is done!
The work of scientists who devote their lives to research must be supported and studied!
