

.....keeping watch on the industry

Issue: #75

Date: APRIL 14, 2016

Sifting the Future: The Ecological, Agricultural, and Health Effects of Frac Sand Mining in Wisconsin Thursday, April 21st – 5:30 p.m. The Plaza, Eau Claire, WI

Join us for a conversation on how frac sand mining is impacting our ecological, health and agricultural landscapes here in Wisconsin. The hills of western Wisconsin supply 75 percent of the country's frac sand market.

5:30 p.m. – Refreshments

6:00 p.m. – Opening Remarks

Pat Popple – President Emeritus-Concerned Chippewa Citizens, Save the Hills Alliance, Inc. and Editor, Frac Sand Sentinel

6:10 p.m. – Impacts of Oil and Gas Development in America Brook Lenker - Executive Director, FracTracker Alliance

6:30 p.m. – Q&A

6:35 p.m. – Airborne Particulates Around Frac Sand Operations: Industry and University Studies Crispin Pierce, PhD - Professor of Environmental Public Health, Univ. of Wisconsin - Eau Claire

7:15 p.m. – Q&A

7:25 p.m. – Watershed resilience, changes in agricultural productivity, & wildlife habitat alteration associated with sand mining in Wisconsin

Ted Auch, PhD - Great Lakes Program
Coordinator, FracTracker Alliance; Adjunct Faculty, Cleveland State University

8:05 p.m. – Q&A

If you have any questions, please call

715-723-6398

You do not have to pre-register.

