bors are experiencing when they live near frac sand mines, processing plants, and trans-load stations. If you have not seen the various components of these facilities, take a ride and see them in their full glory. Can you imagine living near one? It's spring and a great time to get out and take a ride to view these monstrosities particularly when there is a swift wind. There is more to the story than often meets the eye; the stories these affected land owners have to tell will make you cringe! Share with others! If others want to receive the Frac Sand Sentinel, please have them send me their email address and name and I will add the information to the mailing list. We haven't seen the end of this yet.

Here is the story from WPR:
