

You and your family may have some time to watch this documentary about the "Spanish" flu of 1918 during this "lock down" period. The film has been brought up temporarily for showing as there are parallels to be drawn between what is occurring now and what occurred at that time. It is a great discussion topic and one to send on to others, too.

Below is a link to an American Experience documentary, created in 2010 ... “Influenza 1918.”

An eerily pertinent piece of world history.

Keep well, keep safe. Your health and that of your family is critical to everyone.

Keep at a distance.

Wash your hands.

Wear a mask and gloves when you go out for groceries or needed essentials.

We hope you have had a wonderful Easter day with a beautiful snow that brings life to Spring.

Blessings!
